THIS HOLIDAY SEASON, PLEASE HELP WOMEN, CHILDREN, AND THE VERY ILL

The Tanzanian team is finally about to begin C-sections on mothers and babies in our surgical building. Thanks to the generosity of donors, 2017 has brought us ever so close to being able to operate. The anesthesia machine, cardiac monitor, surgical table and light, and air conditioning are all in place. Multiple changes and additions required by the government have been done.

Our obstetrician-gynecologist, Dr. Lulinda, and our anesthesiologist say that we only need $4,565 to purchase the absolutely essential remaining equipment and supplies to start. We can finally request the government permission to begin surgery for C-sections only when we have these. We will still need a reliable backup generator but can use our small existing one to get started. Other important equipment and supplies can also come later. See list below for needed items.

Why the rush? We lost two women and their babies in the last year who needed C-sections. We transferred them to the overloaded Amana regional hospital where they were not able to receive prompt operations and died. This is unacceptable. Please help.

Of course, we always need help for our AIDS orphans, our very sick home-based care patients, and our AIDS patients. A list of ways to help them is below as well.
